instead? Why has she allowed the opinions of Janet Price, to halt the transfer authorization of Third Mutual Funds, from Bank of America, to Farmers and Merchants Bank? Why does she see the frustration of her supporters on the board, who want to forge ahead with major goals, as personal attacks or prejudicially assume their motivation is due to gender and/or age? Why has she caused a rift with her most ardent supporters by refusing to support them? Why does she fight with those who were her closest advisors and staunchest allies? Why does she insist on taking control of every committee meeting she attends? Why can't she act like a President, and forge a coalition that works in the best interest of the residents? What happened to the Carol Moore that stated these intentions as her priority? She became president, and aligned herself with those who openly have different goals, (Business as usual)! Why doesn't she do the job she was elected to do? It is time to remind President Moore, that she has a fiduciary duty to the residents first, and foremost, this is not her kingdom, and we are not her subjects. The president's chair does not come equipped with a crown, and scepter.

It's time for a reality check, President Moore!

Street Noise

Watching the United Board Meeting on Tuesday, 1/13/9, I observed that even the most basic of formalities were unobserved by the Director in charge. When a resident approached the microphone to utilize her 3 minutes she was told she wasn't entitled to speak. The error was fortunately corrected by another Director, but left me wondering whether basic training is given to Board Members and whether Mr. Foster failed to attend. But then there most likely is no training requiring Board Members to listen either.

MRB United Mutual

Remembering that Mike Curtis was elected to the United Board by a significant number of votes, I am curious as to why he is being singled out for rude treatment by the other Board Members. What happened to common courtesy?

ORN United Mutual

Praise be to the newly elected Board of the Third Mutual. Their efforts at freeing themselves from the dictates of PCM is worth applause. We shall soon witness the changes brought forth by gaining control of our own funds.

WSF Third Mutual

Director Freshley, Third Board, seems quick to ratify business as usual. She has resided in the community for many years and never attended board meetings until she was recently elected. Perhaps she would do well to question the status quo and pay attention to the governing documents for a non-profit corporation.

LRW Third Mutual

Rumors circulating give focus to the question as to who owns our Broadband Services. The proceeds have a possibility of being credited to our community or finding their way to a for-profit entity. GRF and all mutuals are non-profit corporations.

JRT Third Mutual

We understand that Milt Johns has in essence offered to terminate the agreement between PCM and the Third Laguna Hills Mutual.

Can anyone please confirm that PCM is ready to walk away from this account and that "during the transition period, PCM will be happy to constructively and efficiently facilitate a change to Third's new managing structure and their staff and service providers?"

Looking for any response.

For reference, we are asking various HOA/CID attorneys to comment on ultimatums issued by property management companies such as is the case here.
