

Looking Closer

Many additional issues are surfacing within our community, and we have our eyes and ears on them...particularly:

The proposed costly renovation of the drop in lounge at Clubhouse One was done without the valuable input of the many volunteers who work that facility. While professional decorator advice is always appropriate, it's more than color schemes and fabric choices. How a place is used is equally important.

Gate One's renovation project has been described as glitzy...hardly the right descriptor for LWV!

GRF's report following an expert analysis of our TRUST hopefully will end years of speculation and accusations.

The final report on where LWV's property actually begins at specific gates should end the concern over whether the speeding tickets imposed on residents was legal.

The proposal to ensure security via TV cameras if the suggested gate removal down at the creek actually comes to pass, and how many more staff will be needed to focus on the tv monitors is still in the discussion phase.

Regarding individual Boards' management agreements.... To our knowledge neither GRF nor Third have signed nor negotiated one. United has crafted their own and signed it, including the customary cancellation clause. Mutual 50's status is unknown.

Good news...for the very first time in our history, a Board, namely GRF, will be involved with union contract negotiations!

Floating around is a proposal for community wide direct election for GRF Board members.

Over ambitious budget for needed renovation and repairs to the Community Center is being whittled. Apparently the windows were installed without proper flashing so while our area doesn't get a lot of rain, it still rains inside .
